

IMAGE EXCHANGE NIGHT

This is an idea suggested by Carl Wagner, whose large-format camera club has a similar program. Each participant picks out his or her best image and makes a print for all the others in the group. In a group of seven, each photographer would make (or have made) six prints to distribute among the group. In exchange, that photographer would get an image from each of the other photographers in the group. The size of the print should be at least an 8x10, with bigger prints acceptable.

This is a great way to share your work among the group, and get some great images from others.

To keep the number of prints required, and the cost down, we'll either divide into small groups or limit participation. Please let Mary Dumont know by the October meeting if you are interested in participating.
